This guide has been created with a version of Adobe Acrobat XI Pro (English language) and will surely work with Acrobat XI Pro - all editions up to XI Pro 8.1.1 - and can be extended to other versions of Acrobat, depending on the number of users or data that you need to manage. Before installing Acrobat, you should know how to create your own PDF document and how to import your data into a PDF. To install Acrobat (Professional), go to the website of the manufacturer (here we will use the link of the Spanish Edition of Adobe) and sign up for a trial, paying the fee and making a payment option to continue using it afterwards. You should find more information on the web site of Adobe. 1. Create a PDF document [fsec0001] ===== There are many applications that can be used to create a PDF document, some of them are free and some of them are available for a fee. Most of them offer similar features and have a similar user interface, however, some are more powerful and easier to use. For this guide we will use Adobe Acrobat XI Pro (English version). 1.1. Create a PDF document [fsec0002] ----- Once the installation of the software is complete, the window "Start/Maintenance" shows up, as shown in the [Fig. 1][f0001][ref-type="fig"]. Fig. 1 PDF document creation Fig. 1 The software will show a welcome screen after which you can create a PDF document or open a template that was previously created. If you select the option to create a PDF document, you will see the window "Welcome" ([Fig. 2][f0002][ref-type="fig"]), which allows you to create your first PDF. The initial welcome screen shows you the options to create a document: Fig. 2 Acrobat welcome screen Fig. 2 "File/New Document" Allows you to create a new document. "File/Open" Allows you to open a document. "File/Import" Allows you to import a document. "File/Export" Allows you to export a document. The option "Open" allows you to open an existing PDF document that was saved on your computer. On the "Welcome" screen, select the option "Create PDF" ([Fig. f3e1b3768c
