Keymacro has the ability to record and auto play your keyboard events on the screen. Keymacro is an advanced and a simple key logger, video recorder and screen recorder. It allows you to record both press and long keystrokes, all at once, pause/resume recording and save recordings in.PNG,.FLV or.WAV format. Keymacro has a great feature to capture keystrokes as they were typed. Keymacro can record hot keys (e.g. Ctrl-Alt-Delete) from other processes and even from the remote computer. So it can record clicks, along with mouse and keyboard events. It's also possible to monitor/record other hot keys (e.g. Start, Shutdown, Restart etc.) Keymacro can record plain text characters along with the time of events and dates. Keymacro can record both long keystrokes and hot keys, as well as can monitor other hot keys such as right click, start menu, power options etc. You can capture mouse and keyboard inputs (e.g. left click, double click, mouse wheel, scroll etc.). And you can record window names (e.g. notepad, wordpad etc.) along with the full screen applications. It's also possible to record just a part of the screen (e.g. the left portion or just a part of the top window). Keymacro is able to record screen and has three different modes: recording, monitoring and playing. To record screen, the Screen mode can be enabled. Also the user can either choose to play or record by setting the playback or recording modes. To monitor, the user can choose between Local or Remote monitoring, and the monitoring system can run on the same PC as the recording system or on the remote computer, on which the recording system is installed. You can also choose to play a recording by scheduling, also by dragging and dropping the recording. There are several filters for the recordings, like date, time, hot keys, file name or anything you can think of. Keymacro supports Unicode, so it can record characters like accents, various Greek letters, complex mathematics etc. It also supports a large number of different screen resolutions and bit depths. The User's Guide for Keymacro is the same size as the program itself, you can easily follow the instructions. You can schedule the recordings by dragging and dropping them on the screen. You can set the time and date for your recording 1d6a3396d6
