I am creating a request to a odata method and don't have control over the odata query string and don't know what arguments are being sent. I have the url that I am submitting to the odata service so I can generate the odata query string, but what I'm having trouble with is how to take that query string and make that into an actual odata request. So far, the only way I know how to do that is to make a request like this: var http = require('http'); var url = ""; var data = { }; var endpoint =

Spanish Sketches Screensaver by SketchesSoftware is a free 3D screensaver with a lot of nice landscapes, and backgrounds. The first thing you'll notice about this screensaver is the large amount of pictures included. These pictures are all rendered in real 3D and are either taken directly from the pictures or from 3D models. The setup process is easy to use and it will walk you through the installation process. At the end of the setup process you will be asked if you want to "start the screensaver immediately" or "launch the screensaver later." As you can see in the pictures above, the screensaver will automatically start when you log on. Avanquest Software Pity is a line of puzzles created by American developer Matthew Reinhart. Each game is a short string of a word or phrase that can be deciphered by clicking the appropriate buttons. The games are similar to crosswords, but with a more difficult and complex format. Most games only require a word or two, while others are longer and require more words. Since the games are short, they are quick and easy to complete and not nearly as mind-numbingly hard as crosswords. You may think of Pity as a game with an educational aspect. Features Pity is a puzzle game that was created by Matthew Reinhart, a software developer and teacher. The puzzle format used by Pity is different from the normal crossword puzzle format. The games on Pity are usually very short, and they take a little over 1 minute to finish. The puzzles start with one or two words and end with a single word. As you progress, the puzzles get more difficult. The difficulty rating of the puzzles is not graded by difficulty, but by how long it will take to solve the puzzle. The puzzles start simple, but gradually get more difficult. To start the game, click on the New Game button. Choose the difficulty of the puzzle from the dropdown menu, or press one of the buttons on the toolbar. To save your work, press the 'Save' button. When you have finished, press 'Done'. The puzzles usually do not have an answer key, so you must figure out the answer on your own. Start a game by pressing the New Game button. Choose the difficulty of the puzzle from the dropdown menu, or press one of the buttons on the toolbar. To save your work, press 'Save' button. When you have finished, press 'Done'. What's New Version 1.0.2 (December 12, 2015) Add a 'Continue' button to the Pity Center. Make sure to click this button to get the next puzzle. Other Improvements Fixed a bug that caused the game to crash when you were taking a screenshot. This is a puzzle game that was created by Matthew Reinhart. The puzzles
