More information: - - Disclaimer: Windows error handling is missing, so it may not work in all cases. About the author - David - - I've written a little utility to disable automatic updates for Steam apps. Steam Games Disable Auto Updates is a program to disable automatic updates on games that are already installed on Steam. It will download and install the most recent version of your installed games, and disable future updates. Steam Games Disable Auto Updates can also be set to update automatically, or you can set an update to high priority. Download Download from the Steam store. All supported and newer versions of Steam are supported. Installation Download and run the installer, and it will download the Steam program into the application folder. The program will then check your games to see which ones are installed. It will download them and disable future updates. Steam Game disable auto updates will prompt for your username and password to confirm the operation. You can run Steam Games Disable Auto Updates from the Steam application folder. If you already have a Steam games folder, you will need to point the Steam Program to it. If you are a new user, you will be prompted to create an account on Steam and set it as default. Steam Games Disable Auto Updates will check the game versions in the Steam Program folder, and it will prompt you to download the newest version, if any. The program will also check for a newer version of the installed game, if it is available. Steam Games Disable Auto Updates will then proceed to install the new version. If a newer version is available, but Steam automatically updates it, the program will download and install the latest version of the installed Steam games. If the program does not find the game, it will offer to download the game from the Steam program folder. If Steam Games Disable Auto Updates finds the game, it will download the newest version, if any, and it will prompt you to install the
