----- One of the greatest and most powerful features of 1-abc.net Hotkey Organizer is the Keymacro. You can define your own keymacro so that a certain key sequence will always open a project and a certain command will be executed when you press that key combination. To demonstrate: If you want to open a Google URL with a project, you have to enter CTRL+ALT+G, that means you have to press the CTRL, ALT and G keys. If you want to open the Google search result with the Windows Calculator, you have to press CTRL+ALT+G. And the combination CTRL+ALT+SHIFT+X will make Windows open the System Configuration Tool. But all the above is very inconvenient and you need to configure your projects all the time and you have to enter your own key combinations instead of your own shortcuts. 1-abc.net Hotkey Organizer with Keymacro is here to help you! With Keymacro you can define in one single setting many key sequences that will always open a project and that will always make a command line or a program or a website open. This is not only very convenient, it also allows you to create 1-abc.net Hotkey Organizer projects that are always open and that never change when you create a new project. To demonstrate this, let me give you an example: You are a web designer and you use a lot of web fonts to display different typefaces on the websites you create. So you use a lot of different hotkeys to search for web fonts in the web browser. For example CTRL+ALT+G, CTRL+ALT+F, CTRL+ALT+C etc. But the last combination is CTRL+ALT+SHIFT+I. And this combination will always open the "I" (iTunes) application in your default browser. So it will always get you the web page where you can select the web font you want. When you have configured a lot of project files, you will be very happy that you will no longer need to enter all of them every time you want to open a project. You can also create project files and save them in your project folder. You will be able to open those project files directly whenever you want without having to find them in your standard project folder. Also, you can use Keymacro to define a hotkey combination for a specific command that will be executed when you press it. This means that 1d6a3396d6
