Bios7.Get Code, Can't Get Service A customer complained that they could not get service from their telephone company unless they bought a new telephone. A technician was sent to their home to check it out. The technician checked the customer's telephone and determined that it was defective. "We can't turn this dial and we can't get this phone working," the technician said, "The only thing we can do is give you a new one." "Can you do that?" the customer asked. "We just got a new phone and I still can't make a call." The technician checked the box where the customer's phone was plugged in and there was a piece of paper sticking out. On the paper was written: "I must speak with a supervisor." The customer pulled the paper out of the jack and handed it to the technician. The technician read the paper, looked up and said, "I'm sorry but the supervisor's out on vacation."

~~~~~ That's Not Funny Your wife was cleaning the house. She had it all cleaned up and all was quiet. Then she heard your cell phone ring and she answered. "Hello..." "Hi honey, it's Bob. Just checking to see where you are. I hope everything is okay." Your wife was still in the living room and quietly told you that she is fine and told you to hurry home. "Okay, just wanted to make sure... you are okay." Bob told your wife as he hung up. Five minutes later your wife called back. "Honey, I just got off the phone with Bob! He wants to know if you are okay. Are you
