I have a number of X_i, and I want to calculate the corresponding empirical cumulative distribution function (ecdf). However, some of my values have infinite number (e.g., underflow when I have -Inf in Matlab). How can I solve this problem? A: You could use robustified versions of the cdf, like cdfp or cdfr, or use linear extrapolation via Holt–Winters or Kalman smoothers. Of course, these are all numerical methods whose strength are in their robustness, rather than their accuracy for particular situations. Q: How to combine equalizing select with hiding a particular row? If I have a select box like One Two Three And I want to set the height of the div equal

View the following video for a live demonstration of the Text Finding: Text Finding is a free application. Text file search is a very common task on Windows. There are many solutions that you can use, and they are all very useful. You can search for the text content of multiple files simultaneously. You can even save them to a new folder after searching. Here are some of the best file text search tools that you can use: Result 1 Result 2 Result 3 Result 4 Result 5 1.Find the file list by the text content The text search feature on Windows Explorer is the most common way to search for files on your PC. Windows Explorer lets you navigate through the files and folders, search for files and lets you save the search results. It is a straightforward and easy way to do a simple text search. However, it is not powerful enough for the more advanced search. You can only search for the file names, such as *.txt. The search results are displayed in a flat list that is not very efficient. 2.Text Search for the file content The program efficiently indexes the text of a file or folder and displays them in a search results list. It even allows you to create folders inside the applications on your computer. You can also search for the text content of multiple files simultaneously. Search results display only the file names and the file location. You cannot sort the search results, and there is no way to save the search result file to a new location.
