Charles Woodson's jersey may be retired by a team on Feb. 8, the anniversary of his last game as a Detroit Lion. Woodson told Mike Kilz of MLive that he has been invited to be honored on that day at AT&T Stadium. "I was thinking about maybe coming back for the entire (Super Bowl)," Woodson said. "But they gave me an invite so now I'd have to attend. I'm not sure. There are a lot of other things going on that day. But I'll have to think about it." Woodson is getting closer to being named the league's top free safety, as voted by a panel of experts. He will likely be inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, in his second season of eligibility.Q: Regex for extracting data inside the a tag Hey guys I am trying to fetch data from this string in PHP Here is the link I want to extract Here is the link text between. My regex expression is /(.)/ But it is not returning the right data, instead it returns entire div tag as well. How do I get the desired output as Here is the link only? I am looking for a regex only, not preg_match_all(). A: (.).* the above regex should work, I'm not sure what you are trying to get, since your link is in another tag..
