There is also an option to disable motion capture data from being used in the player's Career Mode. Once activated, it will permanently disable the feature and the player's movements will be played out via their Player ID's top attributes, rather than the motion data. HyperMotion can be activated and disabled at any point in the player's Career, if desired. Finally, there is an option to "turn off" Realistic Passing. This feature will now "adapt" the football passing rules to the game's physics engine. This removes the need to manually set the passing rules in order for players to naturally create a passing move, without restricting the way the ball moves. FIFA 22 also introduces "4K READY," a feature that will allow players to play the game in 4K resolution, at 60 frames per second, at the option of 4K cinema mode. "FIFA Ultimate Team" will also be 4K-ready on the PlayStation 4 Pro, Xbox One S and PC. Please view the video clip below from SIE Worldwide Studios Chief Producer, Eric Chahi. The updated game is now available for PlayStation 4, Xbox One and PC. "FIFA 20" was the best-selling sports game of this year, helping the series keep its position as the best-selling sports game of all time. "FIFA 22" provides a fresh direction and variety in player movements, marking the longest gap since we have updated "FIFA", and serves as a great showcase of real-life sports data, thanks to our partnership with L'Equipe and IMG's Movement and Player Data Team. Our partnership with IMG allows us to unlock the unparalleled coverage of 22 top players in a single game. This new experience and content will be available on PlayStation 4, Xbox One and PC on September 27. Monday, December 14, 2010 Merry Christmas, y'all Look at all this free shit in my mailbox today.
