Last night I was reading in USA Today about Obama's staff finding ways to get the white house into the good graces of the radical pro abortion camp. Susan Rice, US ambassador to five international capitals, including London and Paris, quickly became the administration's face to the pro abort movement. With the smooth precision of a well trained assassin, she took the gloves off, demanding the removal of videos critical of the white house from youtube. I would like to see a republican president being guarded from criticism in the same manner. We should not let the liberals get away with their intimidation tactics, they believe that they have the moral high ground. Recent polls show that only 35% of Americans favor Obama's job performance, and that number is going down, despite the fact that the economy is shrinking, gas prices have skyrocketed, and we are in this mess because the president's policies were so greatly wrong headed. Yet there is no doubt, that the Obama team believes that it controls the country. It does not tolerate criticism from anyone except your average LIBERAL AMERICA. Obama has shown that he will bow to anything that he feels will get him re-elected. In fact the entire team, including Valerie Jarrett, has the attitude that they own the white house. It is almost as if the entire government is owned by them. I have felt that way about the last two administrations, but things have gotten a lot worse since the Obama administration. After the election, Obama's team began scheming on how Author: Alexa zinc finger RNA-binding protein is a component of an RNA-induced silencing complex involved in RNA interference. We report the identification of a human nuclear protein that binds to RNA specifically via two RNA recognition motifs located at its amino terminus. We named this protein RZ-1, for RNA binding zinc finger 1, because of this biochemical activity. RZ-1 was identified by gel-shift analysis and affinity chromatography using an in vitro translation-derived polypeptide composed of the amino-terminal domain of the Argonaute protein of Drosophila melanogaster. The zinc finger motif is located at the amino terminus of a human Argonaute-related protein, hAgo-2. The amino acid sequence of hAgo
