Create the music sheet with the ease of buying a CD AnthemScore music sheet creation provides a simple, convenient and efficient way of creating the music sheet for your songs. With the program, you can create a music sheet for a song of your choice by only clicking buttons. Even though AnthemScore is very easy to use and the process is clearly designed to meet your expectations, there are still some problems you have to face. Let's find out what these problems are and how you can solve them. Where the trouble actually starts Let's start with what we do not like about this software. It often does not differentiate between chords. If you are not familiar with the terminology, a chord is a musical pattern that consists of a number of successive notes. For example, C Major consists of the notes C, E, G and you can easily identify these notes as the C chord. Similarly, the notes D, F and A are the chord pattern of the D Major. To get a feeling of what that looks like, please see below: With the C Major chord, you can see the notes C, E, G, E, G and so on. Here, the top line represents the scale and the bottom line is the chords. Let's see what happens when we have another musical pattern with the same notes: the notes G, D and A. However, in this case, each note does not match a particular key like in C Major. C Major = G Major Despite these differences, AnthemScore associates chords and notes for you. This is something that you should be grateful of! However, it is not that this does not happen, the program sometimes makes it difficult for you to know where to go. For example, if you want to create a sheet for the song Unbreakable, what would you do? Select song - Then enter it's notes - Enter it's chords This is going to tell you that you can choose any chord for the song - but which one? While the tool gives you the option, you still cannot know for sure. You may find yourself switching chords halfway and filling up the gaps. How to solve the problem Unfortunately, AnthemScore does not offer a solution to this problem. So, what we end up doing is creating music sheets by ourselves. Thankfully, this is not that hard and you can complete your songs in a matter of minutes. So, in order to create the music sheet, it is just a matter
